Roll BUTTON TUTORIAL

The button tutorial was a bit hard for me in the first. I got a little used to it after I finished it. Open up photoshop, and open up a new document. After, you done all of that click on the type tool, and enter your name or whatever you want to be in your roll over button. Save your image as a JPEG. Then, open up Microsoft FrontPage, and open your button image. Once, you have done all this, copy & paste your code in HTML. You will have to modify your code to your needs. When you have finished all of this, click on preview and scroll your mouse over to your button. You will see it changing, and if you click on it, your ctq analysis will open.
